PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION.

ble way, the assumption by Her Most Gracious Majesty of the Diadem, 'Indie Imperatrix'—a ceremony peculiarly calculated to fire the Indian imagination and feeling of holy loyalty, and containing the seeds of greater boons for India, the author has composed the following stanzas on the various lands to which the sacred rays of Her Majesty's power diverge, and has set each to the respective national music. So great is Her Majesty's tenderness and sympathy for Her Indian subjects, that the author has thought he would fail to give an adequate expression to his feeling of loyalty on this solemn occasion, if he should confine himself to the description of India alone.

In some of the tunes, he has been compelled to make slight additions and alterations, for the sake of the poetry; keeping, however, an undeviating oye upon their character.

On the ground of utility, the author has not been strictly literal in the English version of the stanzas. "Language being the incarnation of thought," a translation which should hold the mirror up to the original must be a wild, outlandish creature.

The author has wreathed this garland, the offspring of his loyalty, intending it to be an offering to the India Imperatrix.' Should it reach the Inferial Throne, he would consider his humble labors amply recompensed.

PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

of this work met with at the hands of his indulgent readers, has prompted the author to undertake the grateful task of bringing out a second. In the concluding portion of this edition, he has put in an English translation of a song entitled, "The Loyal Song of Bengal," which was sung in connection with a representation of the Tableaux Vivants of the different nations of the British Dependencies in the East, given in his house, in January 1877, in commemoration of the assumption of the Imperial Title by Her Most Gracious Majesty The Queen Victoria.

30th January, 1882.

HINDU MUSICAL NOTATION:

With a Description of the Signs that have been used in this Book.

SAPTASVARA OR THE SEVEN NOTES.

THERE are seven Notes in Hindu Music; viz., Sharja, risava, gandhara, madhyama, punohama, dhaibata, and nishada. They are generally indicated by the initials of the above words; i. e., sa, ri, ga, ma, pa, dha, nd, which correspond respectively with the English Notes C, D, E, F, G, A, B.

SAPTAKAS OR HEPTACHORDS.

There saptakas or hoptachords are commonly used in Hindu Music. They proceed from the three different organs, navel, chest and scull, and are called, udara, mudara and tara, as shown in the stabues or stall below:

The first seven notes that have the dots under them bolong to the udderd or lower saptaka. The next seven notes belong to the mudded or middle saptaka. The last seven notes that have the dots over them belong to the tará or higher saptaka. The mudárá or middle saptaka is the standard saptaka to go bý. If there is any occasion to note down saptakas higher or lower than the three already shewn, as many dots must be used over or under the notes as they are higher or lower than the middle or standard saptaka. Thus, the note ö would indicate that this C is two saptakas higher than the mudárá saptaka, or one saptaka higher than the higher (tárá) saptaka. Simiralarly, C would indicate that this C is two saptakas lower than the mudárá saptaka, or one saptaka lower than the lower (udárá) saptaka.

The three saptakas noted down in the above staff are sufficient for Hindu vocal music. The provision for more saptakas than three, is for the purpose of noting down instrumental music, or for the music of other nations.

The pataka (1) is the sign for tivra-suras (sharp-tones) and is placed upon the notes. Thus ! (F sharp).

The trikona (\triangle) is the sign for komala-suras (flat-tones) and is placed upon the notes. Thus, \triangle (D flat).

When the signs for tivra and komala suras have a dot upon head, they are called ati-tivra (very sharp); and ati-komala (very flat). Thus, I (very sharp I), A (very flat D).

Ati-tivea and ati-komala are the minor divisions of notes used in some of the melodies of Hindustan.

MATRAS OR THE SPECIES OF TIME.

The measure of time in pronouncing a short vowel is called hraswa mátrá or the single time; that in uttering two short vowels, dirgha mátrá or the double time; and that in pronouncing three or more short vowels, pluta mátrá; i.e., the triple or multiple time.

The sign for matra (|) is placed upon the notes:-

Hraswa-mátrá or single time; thus C.

Dirgha-mátrá or double time; thus C.

Pluta-mátra i. e. triple or multiple time, C, D, &c., &c.

Hraswa-mátrá is, again, divided into ardha (i.e., half) and anu (i.e., quarter) time.

The sign () for archa-mátrá, (called in Sanskrit archa-chandra-chihna) and that (×) for anu-mátrá (called in Sanskrit, damaru-chihna) are placed upon the notes. Thus: Ö, D, Ö, D, Ö, D &c., &c.

If two or three notes are written in one place, but if the sign for mátrá falls only upon the first note, and the notes that succeed it are tied up by a sign of bandhani (pro-----), all the notes placed after the first note should be expressed according to the value of that note, e.g., CDE.

Again, if one or two notes are tied up by the sign of bandhani, but are not marked with the sign of mátrá, the sign of mátrá falls upon a separate note placed after them. In such a case, the note on which the sign of mátrá or time is given, embraces its previous notes in the same proportion of time; e.g., CD E.

Sometimes, the sign of mátrá falls upon an empty place—a place where there is no note. In such a case, time must be allowed up to that vacant place; c.g.,

CDE F.

TALA

From simple, compound, and broken matras are formed talas, the only object of which is to calculate the measure of beating time. They are in use amongst us in both vocal and instrumental music. It is to music what metre is to poetry. Talas derive different names from the variety of matras that form them; e.g., four matras form the tala, named drutatritals; eight, madisfamana; six, chautala, &o., &o.

Tala consists of two principal actions; viz., aghata and birama—the beating and the rest.

The sign of aghata or beating (3) is placed upon the sign of matra. Thus:-C.

The sign of birama or rest (0) is also placed upon the sign of matra. Thus:—C.

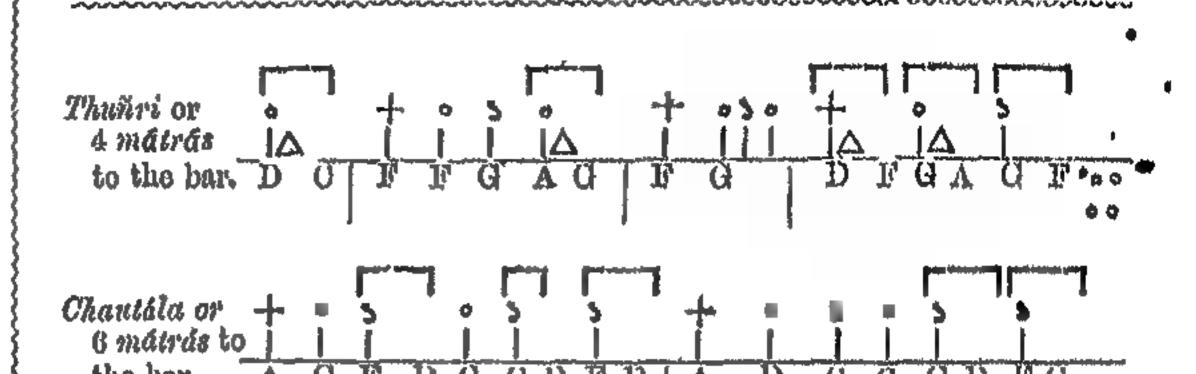

According to Sanskrit music, the first beating of a tala is named sama, the sign of which (+) lies upon the sign of mátrá. Thus:—C. The space of time from sama to biráma is called in Sanskrit mancha. Every mancha, according to the number of mátrás, is divided by perpendicular lines called bivájika rekhás (|), which might be expressed in English as bars.

The padma chinha (22) or the sign of the lotus flower indicates the completion of a molody, song, or an air.

EXAMPLES OF TALAS.

Though the number of mátras in drutatritali and ekatálá is the same as in thuiri and chautála respectively, yet it will be observed that there is difference between them, about the actions of "beating and rest." This difference in the ágháta and biráma separates one tála from another of similar number of mátrás.

In vocal music, the words of a song are put exactly under the notes in which they are to be sung. But if it is found in the notation, that a note or a number of notes have no word or words to be expressed, the note of the provious words should be made gradually to glide through the note or notes that have not the corresponding words under them,—without stopping the voice, and according to the given time.

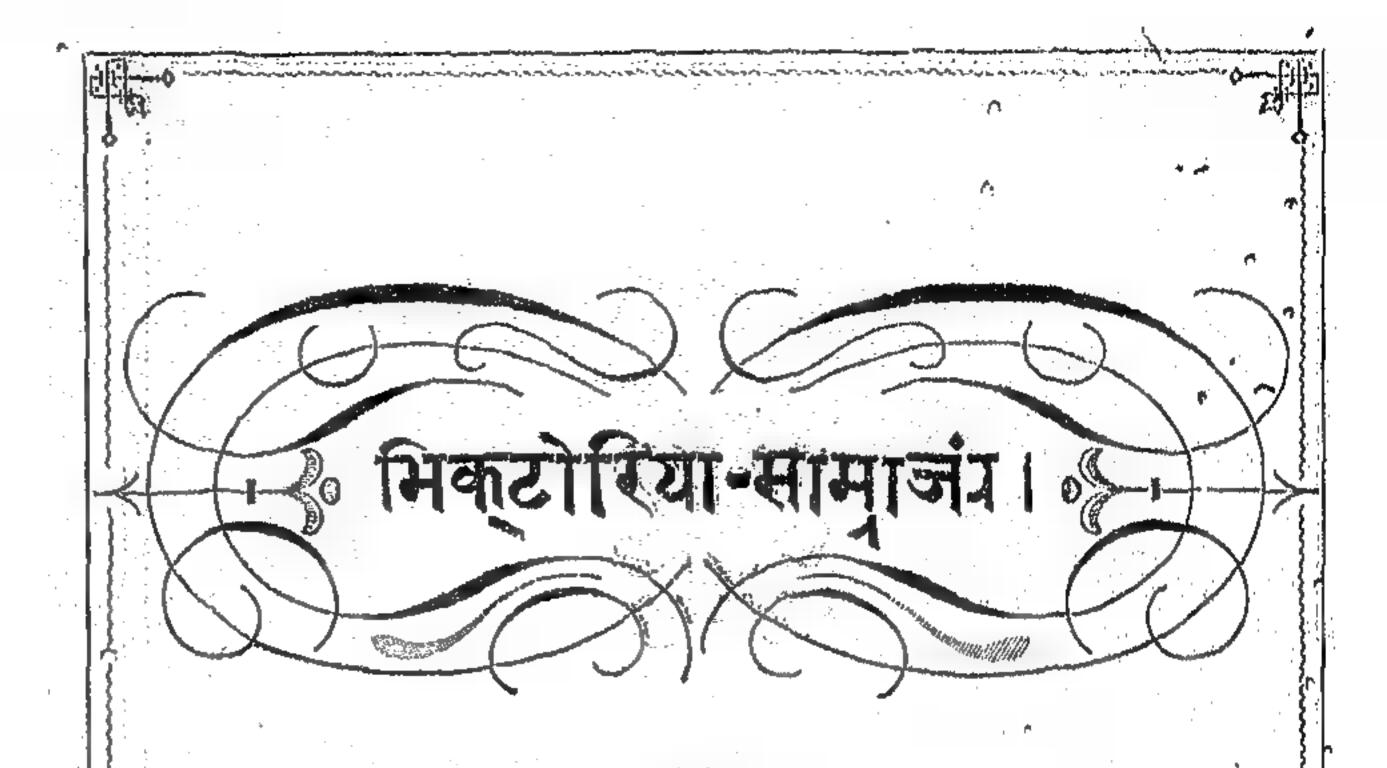

In such case, the notes that have no words under them will have dots instead, thus O D E F. It will be sung exactly as if it were O D E F.

In ancient days, India was protected by the Solar and Lunar races of Princes, the very incarnations of justice and virtue, always studious of promoting the welfare of their subjects, bere various treasures, and was decked with great variety of flowers and fruits—a land which is styled by the learned geographers the image of the whole world.

(8) LABUAN.

That island which is covered with barren, unhealthy marshes uncongenial to humanity, and which, through violent winds scattering noxious vapours on all sides, affliots the minds of living beings, and consigns them to death-bed—

(14.)

That renowned sent of commerce by which the Gonius of Fortune is pleased to roward such as are sugaged in its pursuit, with unexampled affluence—commerce by means of which myriads of men acquire great renown, and some even, vast dominion—

(15.)

Labuan, though uninhabitable owing to its unwholesome climate, yet adoptable by reason of its favorable situation for trade, having been, O mother! blessed with thy rule, has become distinguished under the title of Victoria Port.

CONCLUSION.

PRAYER.

(1.)

O MOTHER, crushing thy enemies with the provess of that glorious destroyer of the fees of the Gods—Indra, protect us.

(2.)

O Viotoria, blessed with Earth-like patience and with Ramlike tenderness for the subject, forgive us our transgressions.

(8.)

O FAVORED CHILD OF FORTUNE, the Moon pours out her silvery and vivifying nectar to the corn, thou preservest us with the ambrosis of thy morey.

THE LOYAL SONG* OF BENGAL.

Daughter of Bengal.—Nature worships Thee, O QUEEN beloved! lighting up her altar at dawn of day with the transcendent beams of the Sun, — Priestess lights the sacred lamp on a plate encrusted with flashing gems.

Chorus.—Victory! Victory!—
Success to our Empress!—
To-day is a day of perfect joy
For thee, O Land of Bengal!

RÁGINÍ BHÚPA-KHÁMBÁJA.

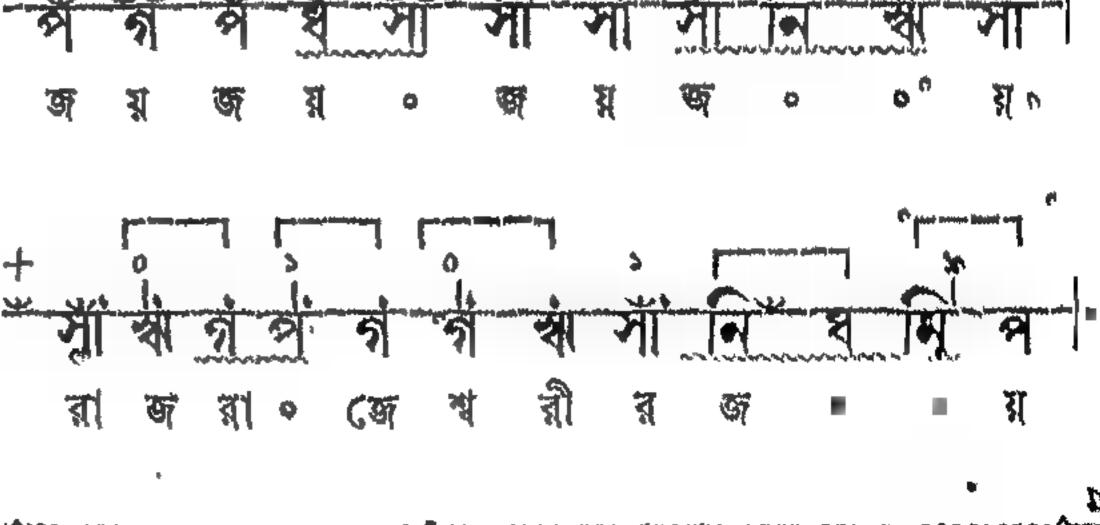

TALA CHAUTALA.

Tim Strain.

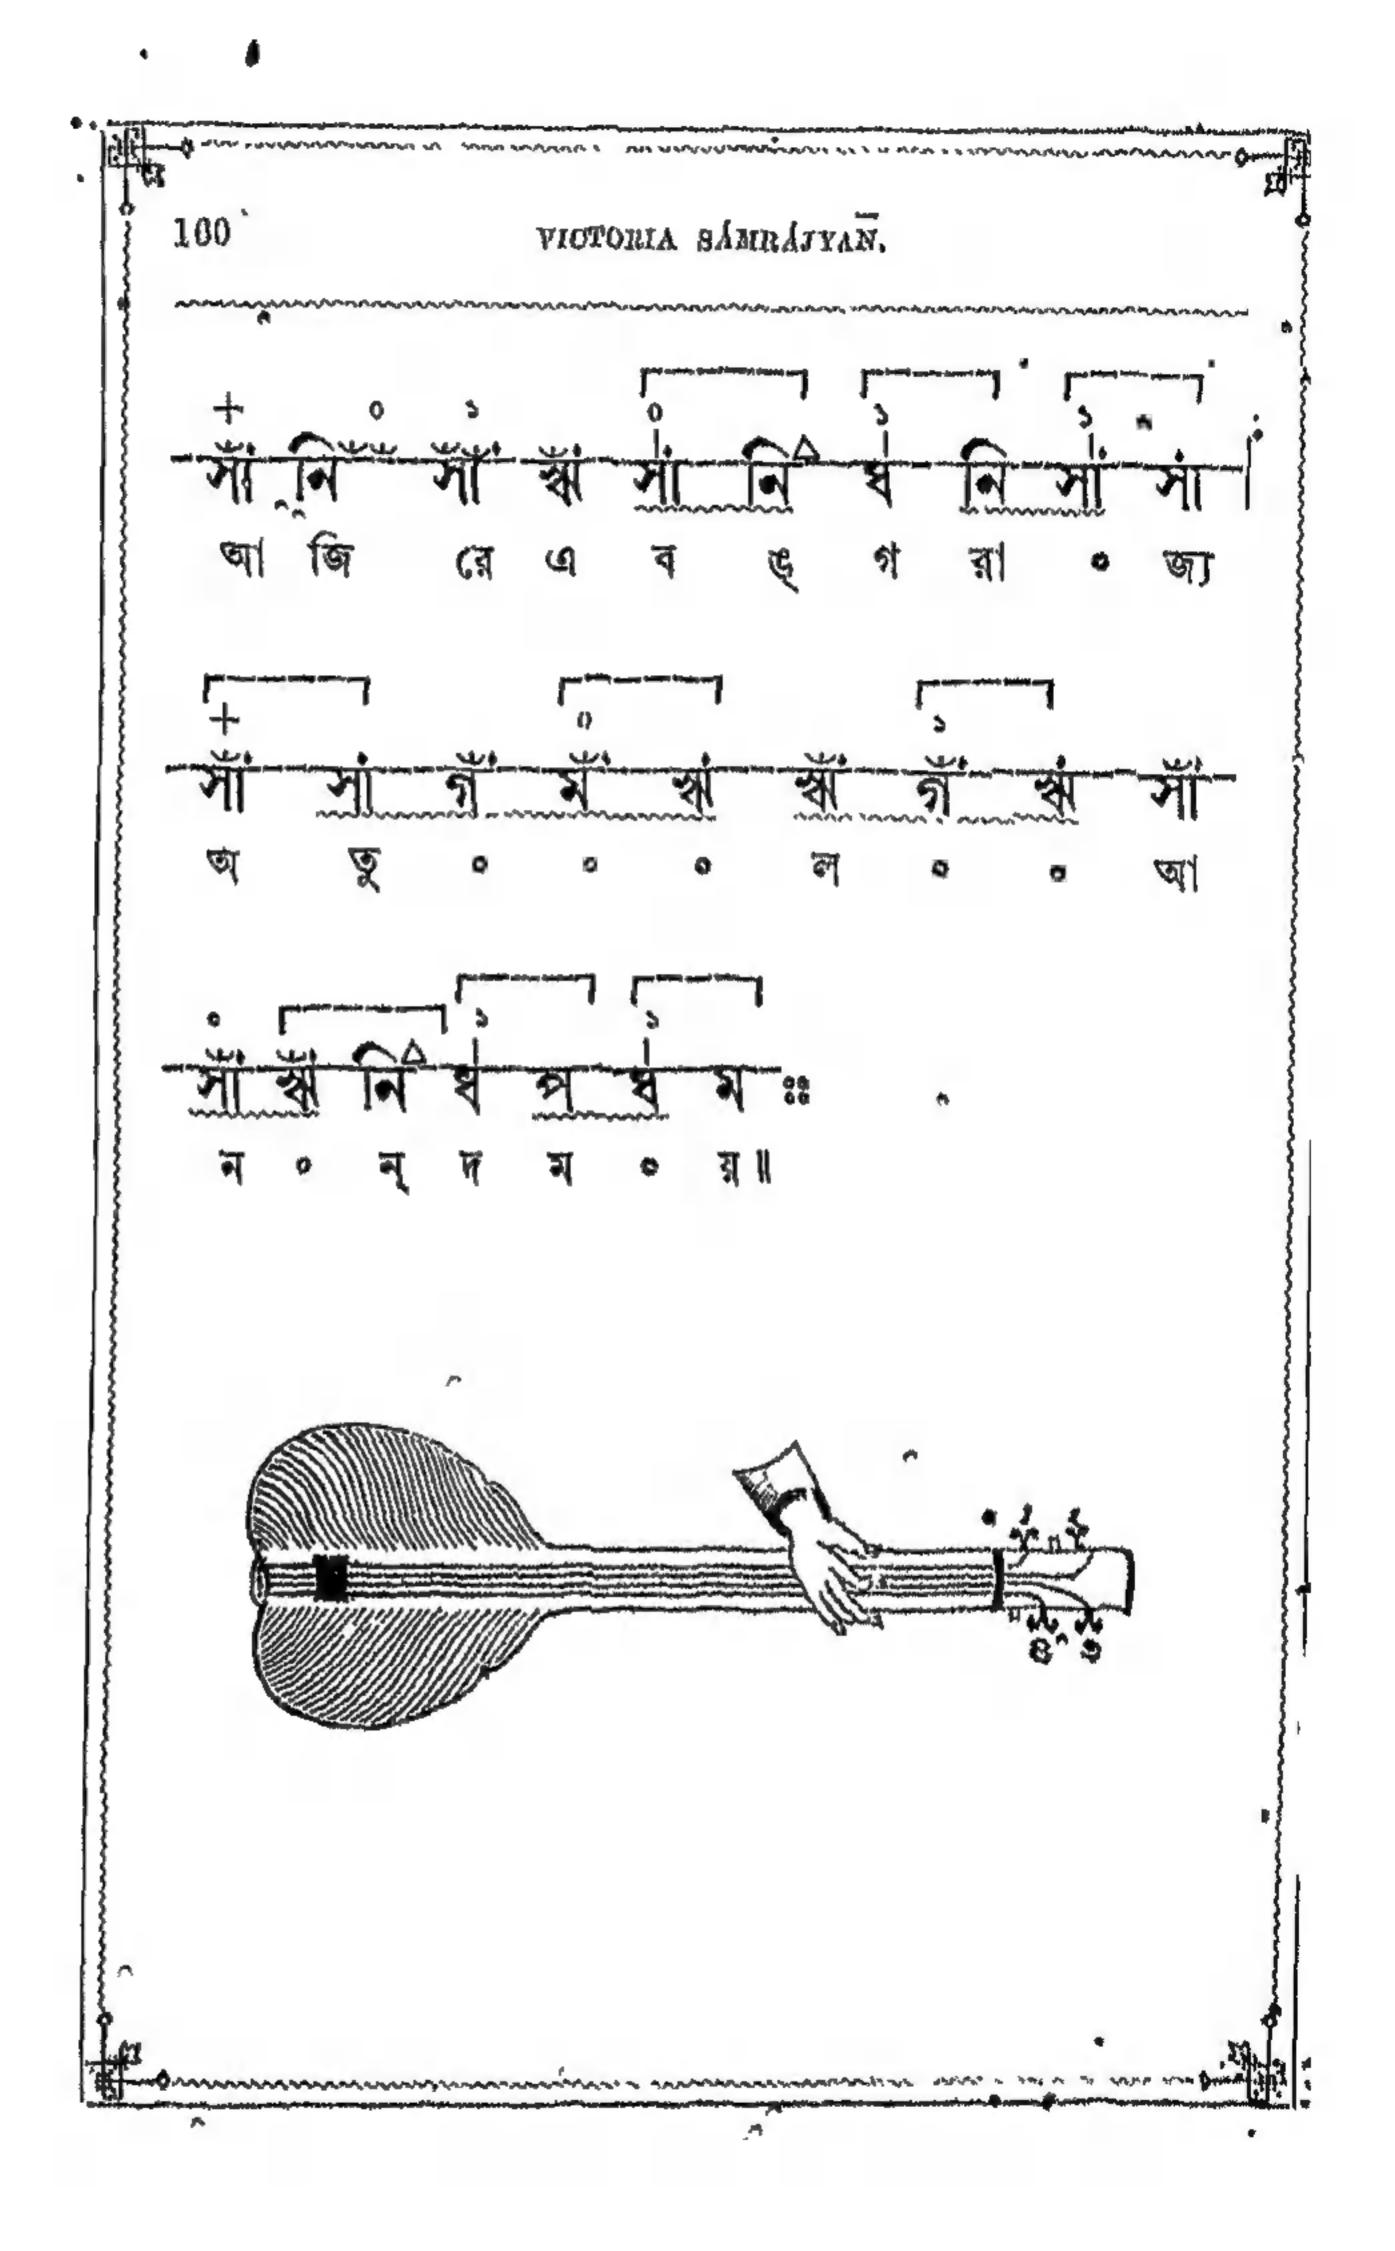

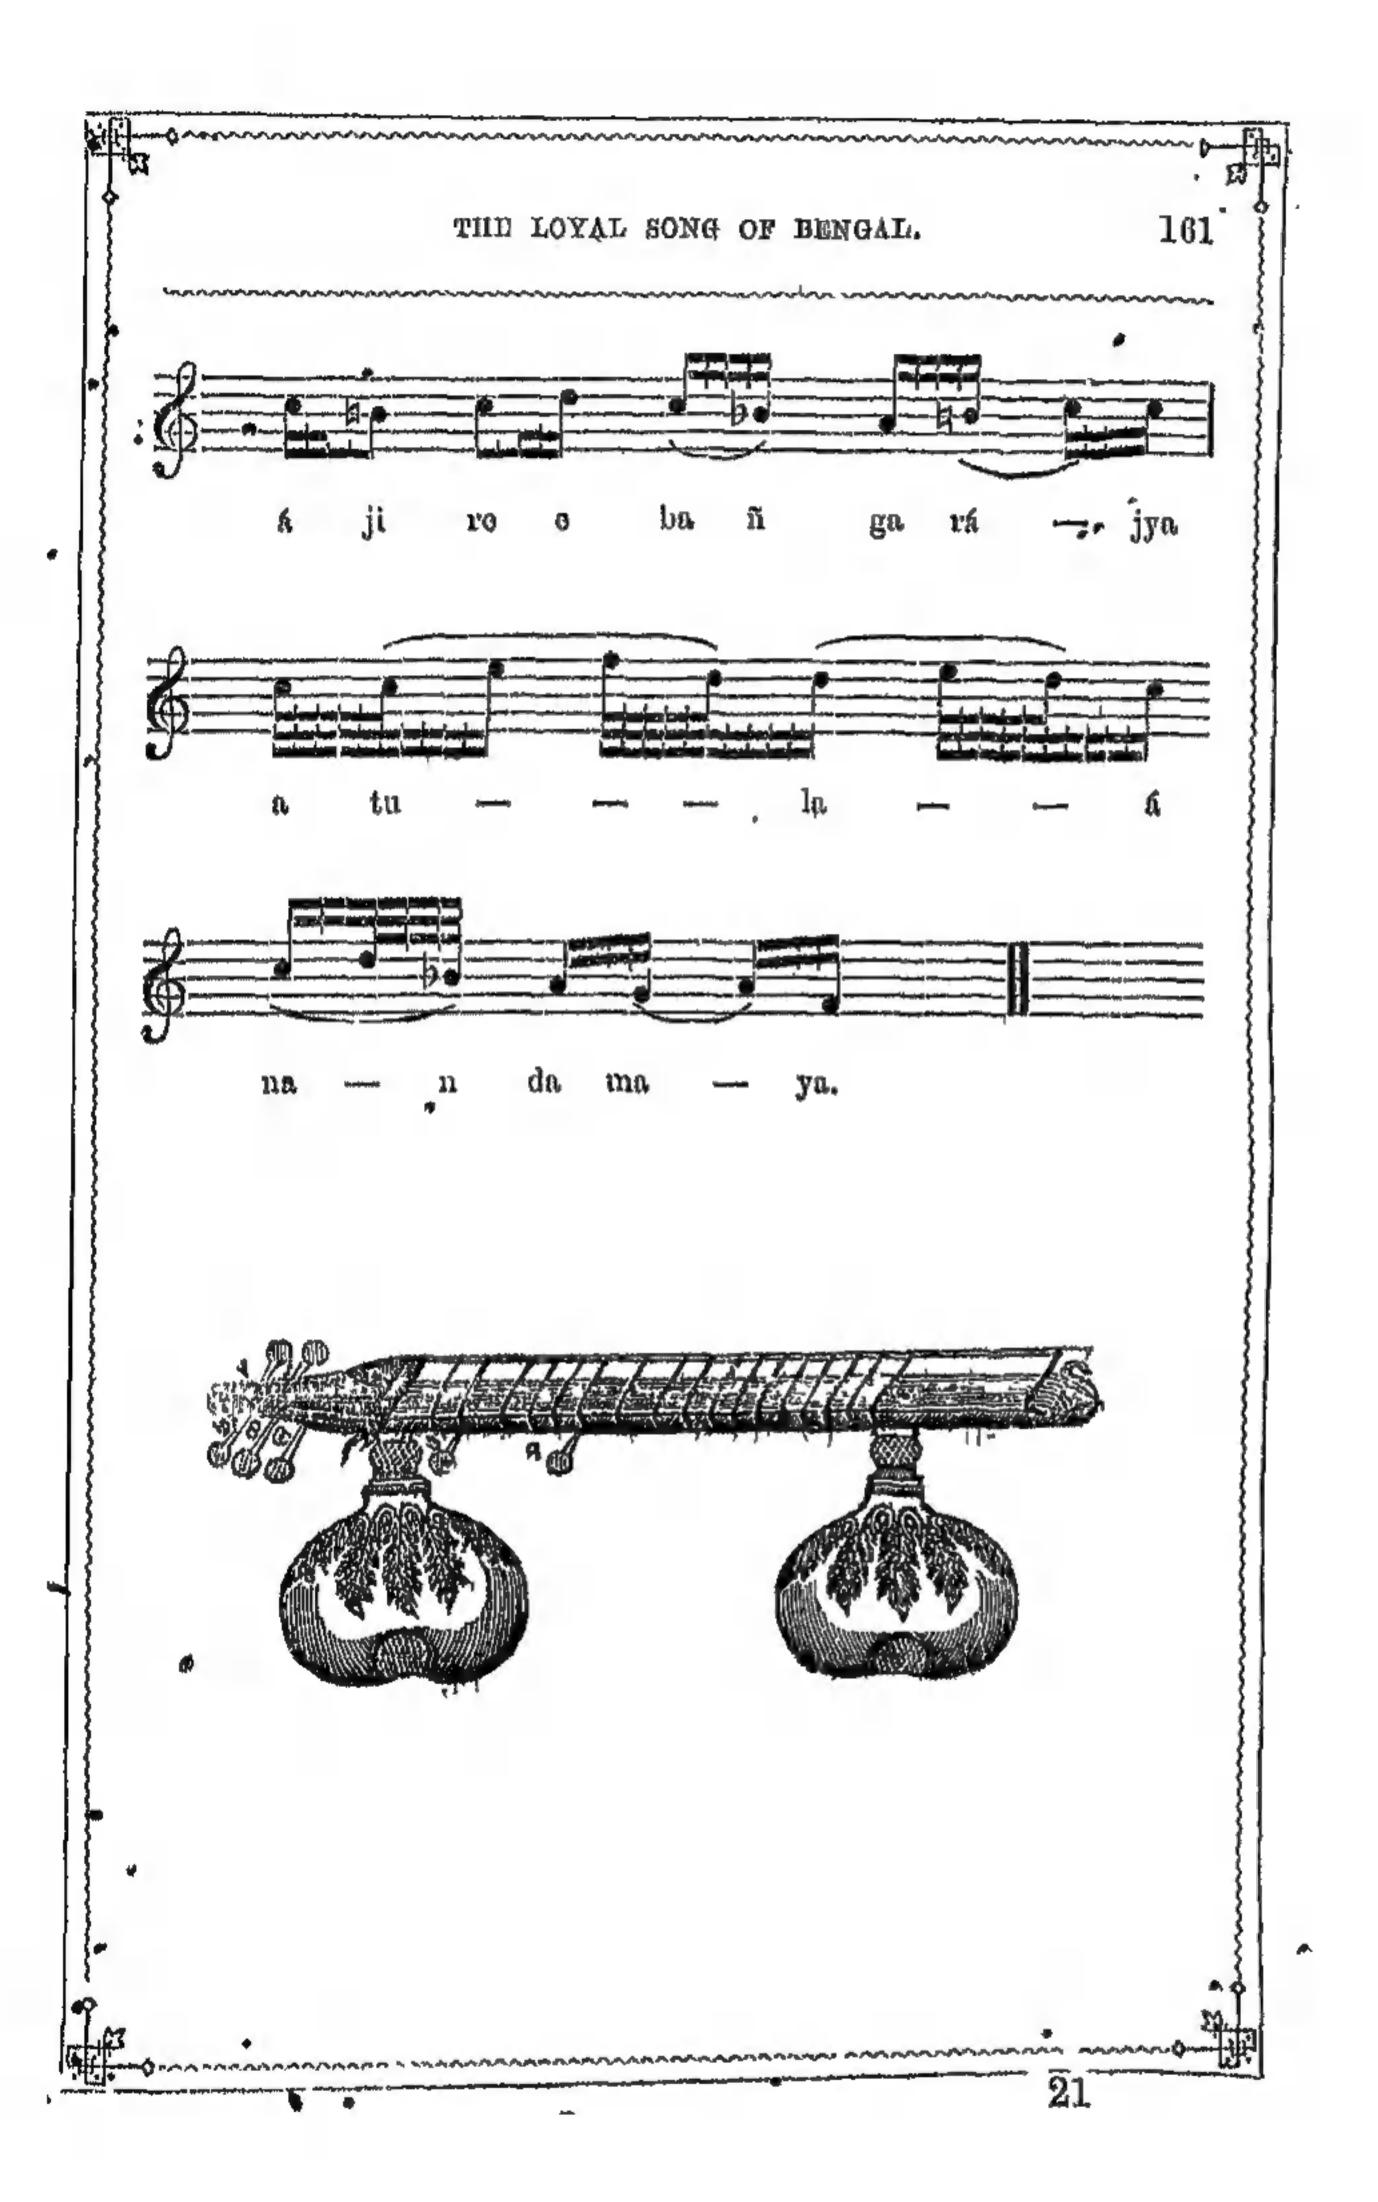

This song was sung on the representation of the Tableaux Vivants of the different people of the British Dependencies in the East—held, at the author's house in January 1877, in commemoration of the assumption of the Imperial Title by Ter Most Gracious Majesty. Scene,—The Government Palace Calcutta. A daughter of Bengal (loyalty of Bengal personified), performing, before the figure of Britannia, the drati, — the ceremony of waving the sacred lamps.

(বঙ্গীয় রাজভক্তি।)— নিশাতে গগন-থালে কোটি কোটি দীপ জেলে, আবার আরতি করে তোমার মঙ্গল তরে।

(সমবেত গীত।)—

জর জয়, জয় জয়, রাজরাজেশরীর জয়! আজি রে এ বঙ্গরাজ্য অতুল আনন্দময়!

(বঙ্গীর রাজভণ্টি ।)---

এ বঙ্গেব ঘরে ঘরে, ভোগারে আর্ডি করে, গাইমে ভোমার গুণ সকলে হর্ম ভরে।

(गमरवङ गीछ।)---

জয় জয়, জয় জয়, রাজরাজেখরীর জয় | আজি রে এ বজরাজ্য অতুল আনন্দম |

(বঙ্গীয় রাজভক্তি।)---

(यभीग নাজভক্তি।)---

রাজরাজেশ্বরী তুমি, তব অন্থাতা আমি, শাদরে আরতি করি এ হেতু আজি তোমারে।

(गगरवं शीख।)---

জয় জয়, জয় জয়, রাজরাজেশরীয় জয় | আজি রে এ বঙ্গরাজ্য অভুগ আনন্দ্যয় |

(বঙ্গীয নাজভক্তি।)—

চিরকাল হুবে থাক, প্রস্থারণে হুবে রাখ, বঙ্গীয় বাজভকতি তোমারে ভক্তি করে।

M

Daughter of Bengal.—At night again, O QUEEN beloved I Nature worships Thee and prays for Thy welfare, lighting up the blue concave with myriads of sparkling lights.

Chorus.—Victory! Victory!—
Success to our Empress!—
To-day is a day of perfect joy

For thee, O Land of Bengal!

Daughter of Bengal.—In every household, O Queen beloved! Thy children worship Thee with songs of praise from joyous hearts.

Ohorus.—Victory! Victory!—
Success to our Empress!—
To-day is a day of perfect joy

For thee, O Land of Bengal!

Daughter of Bengal.—This day, O Quien beloved I is the Festival of Joy. The glad sound of the conch shell is heard all over the country, and every one finds his heart too confined to contain his unbounded happiness.

Chorus.—Victory! Victory!—
Success to our Empress!—
To-day is a day of perfect joy

For thee, O Land of Bengal!

Daughter of Bengul.—Thou art our Empress and Queen beloved! and I, Thy loyal and humble subject, worship Thee on this solemn occasion with a heart full of affection, and wave the sacred lamps before Thee.

Chorus.—Victory! Victory! Victory!—
Success to our Empress!—
To-day is a day of perfect joy

For thee, O Land of Bengal!

Daughter of Bengal.—Mayst Thou be ever happy, O Quien beloved I and the source of happiness to all Thy loyal subjects. The Spirit of Loyalty of this our native land, thus bends before Thee with a heart full of adoration and devotion.

Grand Chorus.—Victory! Victory! Victory!—
Success to our Empress!—
To-day is a day of perfect joy
For thee, O Land of Bengal!

THE END.
